AMUSEMENTS

The Arnold Stock company pleased immensely at Idelwild theatre last night in their presentation of "East Lynn." The old story was presented very effectively by the company, and Miss Angela Wheaton did the role of the heartbroken wife and mother in a manner which may well be called excellent.

The specialties which change with each bill, are very pleasing. One of the most clever of the performers is Peter Don, who as a comedian makes a decided hit at every performance, and his singing of comic songs, pleases every time. Vade, the magician, is clever, and his tricks are new and puzzling. Beatrice, the fire dancer, wins hearty applause every night, and her work is well appreciated.

This is the last week of the company and also the best. Commencing Friday night the last bill "Lost in Egypt," will be given and it promises to be a winner.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING

TO BE HELD THURSDAY NIGHT AT ASSEMBLY HALL IN THE UNION BLOCK.

It is Important That the Organization Be Kept Up—A Full Attendance is Requested.

The annual meeting of the members of the Newark Board of Trade will be held tomorrow, Thursday, night, at Assembly Hall Union block. The official call, signed by President F. M. Black and Secretary C. W. Miller appears in another column.

It is highly important that this organization should be kept alive and those most interested in the work hope that there will be a large attendance of members.

The work accomplished by the Board on Tuesday may be cited as an example of what can be done. Realizing the necessity of providing fire protection for the Wehrle plant the Board of Trade using money from its own treasury and securing the remainder from business men of the city contracted to extend the water mains to the new foundry at no little expense. It is to the interest of the city and her business men and property owners to give the Wehrle foundry this protection which the city and the Water company could not at this time provide.

A Warning to Mothers. Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by all druggists.

Gov. La Follette on Boss Ridden Ohio.

Governor La Follette of Wisconsin gave the Republicans of Ohio some very plain talk in regard to Bossism and Coxism in his address at Lima on Monday. It is significant that what Wisconsin's reform Governor said was received with such marked approval by his hearers. He denounced the influence of the great corporations upon National and State legislation, and declared that they all made common cause against the people. He gave the history of the repeated defeats of attempts to amend the laws affecting interstate commerce so as to give the commission more power, and asked if any Republican present wanted to take the platform and defend the Ohio delegation in Congress for the part it played in helping the railroads defeat those attempts to regulate them. In conclusion he urged Ohioans to vote rather for country than for any party and to do a great lot of house cleaning and get rid of the machine bosses and corporation lobbyists. The applause which greeted these utterances boded ill for Governor Herrick and the Republican State ticket this fall.

OUR RECENT VISITOR.

Harriet's Hats and Other Belongings
Galore Here and There.

"How I miss Harriet's hats!" said my irrepressible young brother-in-law a day or two after our guest's departure. I looked at him reprovingly, but in the depths of my heart I had to acknowledge a kindred feeling, for during Harriet's visit the hall table had always been adorned with at least one hat of hers. Indeed, once I counted three, not to mention her purse, gloves, parasol, umbrella, tennis racket and golf sticks, all of which incumbered the hall for longer or shorter periods during her stay. She dropped her fancy work wherever she happened to be gazing, her books and letters wherever she read them and her pocket-handkerchiefs all over the house.

But this was insignificant when compared with the condition of her room. As we left other visitors at the time, we fitted up the sewing room for her. It had a small closet and a capacious bureau, but the casual observer would have supposed it unprovided with either of these useful receptacles. There was a garment on and a pair of shoes under each chair. The radiator was piled high with clean laundry, and the top of the trunk usually stood open, revealing the tray filled with miscellaneous objects, from a pair of white slippers to a feather boa. Her bureau top was a tangle of photographs, brushes, soiled collars and old letters. The drawers were never shut tight, and ends of ribbon and lace hung out in various directions.

The bed was seldom tidy after noon, for Harriet would rush in from tennis, golf or boating and throw herself down for half an hour's rest before lunch—a wise habit, no doubt, but one that would have been more agreeable to her hostess had it been accompanied by the habit of removing her dusty boots and arranging her bed after she arose.

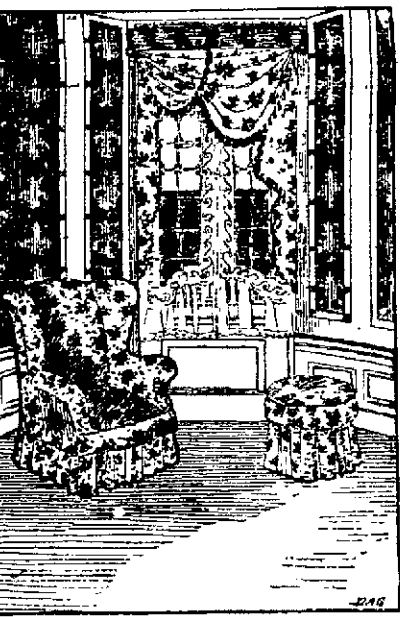

It would not have made so much difference had her room been in a less conspicuous place, but as it was just at the head of the stairs every member of the household had to pass it several times a day, and not only was the door invariably open, but Harriet, who was the soul of hospitality and good fellowship, was given to hailing the passerby and asking her in.

This was an extreme case, of course, but, as many otherwise charming girls are more or less careless in this respect, a word of warning may not come amiss.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

or linen covers several months in the year. For purposes of protection there is nothing which can take the place of figured chintz, which always looks cool and dainty and is durable as well.

A charming window arrangement, such as is shown in the illustration, can be easily copied. The shade is double faced, dark green outside and cream inside. Short lace curtains of net hang over the shade, and these are braided in bars to look like small window panes. A scroll border of the braid and a graduated flounce edged with battenberg braid finish the curtain. The chintz drapery is lined with plain yellow and has a fringe to match the dresser and commode. It is thrown carelessly over the curtain pole and hangs in graceful folds the entire length of the window. Cords and tassels are used to tie the upper drapery.

Table Novelties in Silver.

Very appropriate for the season are the pretty sets of lemonade spoons which have perforated bowls and convenient strawlike handles, through which the lemonade may be drawn.

Grapefruit glasses come in cut glass. To hold the shredded grapefruit there is a flat bottomed tumbler furnished with a short stem to imbed in the ice. For wedding gifts these, with rock crystal dishes in fruit, flower and cherry berry designs, are popular.

Cherry Pie.

For a cherry pie stone the cherries and take three heaping cups of the fruit and set on the back of range until scalding hot; remove and let cool. Then add a cup of sugar with a tablespoonful of flour mixed through it. Line a plate with rich crust, add the fruit and cover with a top crust. Bake in a moderate oven.

Union Omelet.

Boil until soft a dozen medium sized onions, chop, season with salt, pepper and butter. Add half a pint of sweet milk, three beaten eggs. Mix well and bake in a quick oven fifteen minutes.

OPERATORS ORDERED OUT

General Strike on Great Northern and Northern Pacific Roads.

AFFECTS TWO THOUSAND MEN

Railway Officials Confident They Will Be Able to Fill the Positions Vacated by the Telegraphers, Who Among Other Things Demand an Increase of Wages—The Outlook.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2. — All the telegraph operators of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific systems were ordered out by President Perham of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. According to the officials of the telegraphers' union between 1,900 and 2,000 men will be affected by the order. The railway officials maintain that they will be able to fill the places of most of the men and that they will suffer nothing more than a temporary inconvenience by the move.

General Manager Horn of the Northern Pacific issued the following statement: "The Northern Pacific started a lockout of its telegraphers because of a strike vote taken on May 27. Strike instructions were issued July 5, and these with the vote are still hanging over its head in spite of the fact that during several weeks negotiations the points of difference have been pretty generally cleaned up, excepting the Sunday rule and raise of minimum. The Sunday rule demand is different from any in the United States and would add to the payroll of the telegraphers about $100,000 a year. The company's rate of pay is not exceeded, but on the other hand is considerably higher than on most of the roads in the same territory. It has granted liberal increases to its telegraphers during the past five years. As compared with 1900, the same positions that existed in that year are paying in 1905 $110,000 additional. This increase relates only to the positions in 1905 which were in existence five years ago. There are also in existence over 200 more positions than existed in 1900. These of course take the 1905 higher rates. Comparing the 1905 positions with those of 1900 as a whole, the telegraphers are receiving the increase of annual pay amounting to not less than $150,000. The impracticable rules and exorbitant demands made by the committee are considered conclusive proof that at no time has it been the intention of the committee to make concessions which would enable the company to make a satisfactory settlement."

This was an extreme case, of course, but, as many otherwise charming girls are more or less careless in this respect, a word of warning may not come amiss.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

RUSSIAN ARMY

Never in a Dangerous Position, Reports General Linevitch.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.—General Linevitch has telegraphed to the emperor under date of July 25, denying the frequently published reports that his army was completely surrounded. He says that the army has never been in a dangerous position. The flanks have never been turned, although the Japanese sought to do so, "the Japanese, who are some distance from our principal positions, having failed in their attempts to approach them." The general adds: "The morale of the troops inspires me with complete confidence that the army is ready for any task."

BY FIRE

Warehouses and Elevator at Kansas City Completely Destroyed.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 2.—Fire completely destroyed the mill, warehouses and elevator of the Kansas City Milling company, entailing a loss of $100,000. Grain and flour worth $20,000 were destroyed. The property was insured for $92,000. The fire started in the boiler room of the mill and the cause is unknown. The firemen battled with the flames for hours before they got them under control, and several of the firemen were overcome by heat, but none was seriously affected.

WHILE TOWN BURNED THIEVES WERE BUSY

So Daring Did They Become That Citizens Secured Guns to Guard Property.

Visalia, Cal., Aug. 2.—This city was the scene of three disastrous fires last night which were accompanied by wholesale pillage, followed by a determined effort on the part of citizens to protect their property by force of arms. While the fires started in different sections and the city was for a time in darkness, the thieves took advantage of the obscurity and confusion to rob many places. So daring did the thieves become that the citizens secured guns to guard their property. Finally a local military company was called out and order was restored after a turbulent night. The total loss is about $30,000.

John Mills who is working for Mr. Charles Knisley of near Utica, had an exciting runaway last week. He had been raking hay and drove up to a gate and was in the act of getting off the rake to open the gate when the horse began kicking. John was thrown forward under the feet of the horse which then started to run, dragging him some distance, his leg becoming entangled in the teeth of the rake. What undoubtedly saved his life was one wheel of the rake ran over a corner of the fence, thus elevating the teeth and he was released from his perilous position. Aside from some painful bruises and a badly sprained leg, he was not injured. The horse ran a short distance farther and was stopped by attempting to pass through a four foot gate with a twelve foot rake.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use ½ tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot. First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3. Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. DON'TS (Don't use water that has been boiled before.)

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future.

(Lion-head on every package.) (Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

Judge C. W. Seward has decided the case of Cynthia Smith and others vs. the Village of Granville, being a suit to restrain the construction of a sidewalk on the north side of Broadway in that village. The court ordered the preliminary order of injunction dismissed and fixed the bond for appeal at $50.

In the case of Emma Dixon vs. William Dixon, suit for divorce, commenced in the Probate court, the defendant has filed his answer and cross petition, in which he denies every allegation contained in the petition, except the fact of the marriage and birth of the children and residence of parties. He says that the plaintiff has been guilty of gross neglect of duty and infidelity; that for more than a year she has refused to perform her household duties, failed to get his meals, and has spent her evenings in the company of other men, and has frequently been intoxicated while away from home.

Squabbles Adjusted—Secretary of State Settles Cases of Dispute. The Appointees.

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—Secretary of State Laylin announced the appointment of members of boards of elections in all counties except the four largest. There were a number of cases of dispute over recommendations by the county executive committees. In Clermont county Secretary Laylin held for the Wilson-Baum faction among the Republicans and the Williams faction of the Democrats; in Clinton, for the Hildebrandt faction. In Geauga he named H. J. Wilnot as the Democratic member, as H. B. Kile is a nominee for office, and so ineligible, and H. E. Watts as the Republican member, instead of W. D. Wilder. The Marting faction got the Republican members in Lawrence, and James Gorman came out ahead in the contest to name the Democratic member. In Marion N. E. Arnold beat French Crane for the Democratic membership.

The Democratic fuss in Stark was settled by naming John MacDonald, who had 43 of 79 executive committee members back of him. The Isbell-Rogers Democratic faction won in Summit. In Wood the executive committee stood 4 to 4 as between S. E. Niece and E. D. Blinn, the latter being favored by Secretary Laylin.

TAGGART CASE AT WOOSTER OPENED

FULL HOUSE AT EVERY SESSION OF JUDGE EASON'S COURT IS ASSURED.

Prayer For Reconciliation is Vain Declares the Major's Wife in Discussing Rumor

Wooster, O., Aug. 2.—The Taggart divorce case starts at 1 o'clock this afternoon before Judge S. B. Eason. A full house at every session of court is guaranteed.

Major Taggart, one of the principals in the case, reached the city last evening. He spent the day in Orrville visiting his aged parents at their home and consulting with his attorneys, J. R. Stirling of Canton, and Ed. S. Werz of Wooster.

A report was current on the street to the effect that Mrs. Taggart had received a letter from the Major asking for a reconciliation. When Mrs. Taggart was asked about this she refused either to deny or affirm the report but she had received such a letter. When asked if a reconciliation would be considered by her she replied: "Oh, my, no! The idea, after all that has been charged and said. While Major Taggart may not have known all that was put in that petition, his attorney did. On the face of all these charges I could not even think of a settlement of anything else but what I have asked for."

Boycott Spread to Japan.

Washington, Aug. 2.—A cablegram received at the state department from United States Consul Harris at Nagasaki says the boycott against Americans and American products prevailing at Shanghai has extended to Nagasaki. This is the first indication of the spread of the movement into Japan, where it probably is beyond the reach of any repressive measures that might be exercised by the Chinese government over its own citizens.

It is said at the state department, however, that this last development is not likely to be of importance, because very little of the American trade at Nagasaki is in Chinese hands.

TELEGRAPHERS ON WESTERN ROADS ORDERED BY PERHAM TO GO ON STRIKE.

Men Say the Walkout is Perfect—Newark Man is Injured—Collision is Narrowly Averted.

St. Paul, Aug. 2.—A strike of telegraphers is in force on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads. President Perham of the Union of Railroad Telegraphers, called the men out when it was learned the roads were taking non-union men west from Kansas City. Perham says today, that all his men are standing firm and obeying the strike order.

Walkout is Perfect.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 2.—Sixteen operators, including two wire chiefs and two operators in the yards, quit upon receiving the signal from President Perham. All Montana Central operators except the dispatchers, about 50 altogether, went out. At Missoula the entire Northern Pacific staff, except two men, quit work. The entire Rocky Mountain division of the Northern Pacific is reported tied up by the strike. At Spokane, Washington, on the Spokane division of the Great Northern and the Idaho division of the Northern Pacific, all the operators except the dispatchers are out. He was engaged at work when a heavy casting, weighing over three hundred pounds, fell on one of his feet, badly mashing it. A hurry ambulance call was sent in to Long & McCament, and the injured man was taken to his home at 37 Gay street, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. B. F. Barnes.

The operators at Lake View refused to sign the agreement and the wires were cut out.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 2.—The tower operator at Kendallville, where the Lake Shore crosses the Grand Rapids and Indiana, confused signals, and in order to prevent the west-bound Lake Shore flyer and a south-bound excursion train from Rome City to Richmond on the Grand Rapids and Indiana from crashing into each other, the operator derailed the Grand Rapids and Indiana train, throwing the engine and three coaches into the ditch. The engineer was seriously hurt and one woman thrown 20 feet against a fence. No one was killed, several badly hurt. The Lake Shore train did not stop.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Reichert the former Massillon player is putting up a fine game at third for Homestead.
Powell, Risher's new first baseman, broke up Monday's 1 to 0 game with McKeesport with a double in the ninth.
Pitcher Rigby of East Liverpool who was tried out by Crow against Steubenville and won his game, has been released.
Pitcher Laing of the Steubenville team is to be given a try out by Crow. Rarely of the same team looks like a corner.
The Mt. Vernon team has lost an even dozen straight games. That comes pretty close to being a record and they are not yet through.
Manager McKim of the Braddock team has signed Pitcher Sammy Smith of Massillon. Sammy ought to prove a winner for Braddock.
Porter of Braddock has been hitting the ball hard of late. In Youngstown he had two triples, two doubles and a single and yesterday he had a homer.
Sump the former Warren player continues to play good ball at first base for the Lancaster team. He was in the Trolley league last year with Geneva.
Buff Ehnman the former Akron twirler, continues to pitch fine ball for Wheeling. A brass band didn't josh him Monday and he gave Dayton three hits, winning 5 to 1.

YOUNGSTOWN TEAM

Well Represented in All Star Bunch as Chosen by a Cleveland Paper Blue, Lucas and Elston in.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer in Sunday's issue picks an all star baseball team from the Protective association. From all appearances, the story was written by a Youngstown sympathizer. The team is composed of five Ohio Works men. However this is probably a good choice, as Ohio Works is winning the majority of games played.

As a center fielder, this most might critic might at least cast a glance in the direction of our own little German, Al Schweitzer. But few of the Protective association make more sensational plays than does this little man. No better sticker can be found in the league, and his base running is faultless.

Ol Maloney and Blount the Youngstown Vindicator says:
"Maloney, of the Ohio Works team is the best fielder in the association. Rarely a day passes that he doesn't pull off a sensational play. He has a long stride, covers lots of ground and makes ordinary hard chances look easy. He is a fine sacrifice hitter, but only fair at the bat. Blount, sought after by minor and big league teams, is regarded as the fastest man in the association. He is a hard hitter, always being above .300, and a good fielder, his only weakness being on ground balls."

However, this all star team is only a pipe, and counts for naught. Such a team on the road would no doubt play just as poor ball as is being played every day in the league.

The Plain Dealer's choice is as follows:

Catchers—Blue of Zanesville; Ortlieb of Akron.
Pitchers—Armstrong and Dolan of Ohio Works; Lucas and Elliston of Zanesville; Kommer of Akron; Stewart of Niles.

Shortstop—Dithridge of Akron.
First base—Whitney of the Ohio Works.

Second base—East of Akron.
Third base—Phyle of Ohio Works.
Left field—Mathay of Homestead.
Center field—Maloney of the Ohio Works.

Right field—Blount of Ohio Works.
Utility infielder—Edmunson of Braddock.

Utility outfielder—Drake of Massillon.

KITTELY'S SHOT PROTEST

Why Peace Conference Stirs Up a Maine Village.

JEALOUS OF PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

Hamlet in Which is Located the United States Government Navy Yard is Sore Because Neighboring Town is Being Made Famous as Meeting Place of Peace Envoys.

Marlen E. Pew, a staff correspondent of the Pittsburg Press, tells the following story about an indignation meeting that was recently held at Kittery Me. in regard to the peace conference to be held at Portsmouth, N. H. The story opens with the following resolutions, which were drawn up by the inhabitants of Kittery:

Whereas, We, the people of the village of Kittery, state of Maine, have a deep sense of pride in our town, and

Whereas, It will be within the precincts of our distinguished village that the honorable plenipotentiaries and envoys from Russia and Japan will meet to plan for peace in the war swept east, and

Whereas, The city of Portsmouth, state of New Hampshire, has attempted to rob our town and our fair state of this great honor, when Portsmouth would even shelter these diplomats for even a day or night, therefore

Be it resolved, That we these means to notify the outside world that it will be Kittery where the history making conference will be held; that we resent the butting in of Portsmouth, whose only real honor lies in the fact that its geographical position is just across the Piscataqua river from our Kittery.

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

That's how sore Kittery is. And it's too bad for it to happen, just when the great white dove of peace recently began to wing its poetic flight to the region of the Piscataqua.

If there is any truth in the theory of environment and atmosphere, who knows but what it might mean the cutting off of a few hundred additional miles of Korean territory for Japan, a few million rubles less indemnity from Russia or, indeed, renewed hostilities and the sacrifice of the lives of thousands more.

Kittery has always been a little jealous of Portsmouth. Portsmouth has 10,000 population. Kittery has only 2,000, but it has the United States government navy yard. There is plenty of ancient and honorable history which the towns can divide with honors equal, but it is to history yet unwritten that the jealous guardians of civic pride now have an eye.

The whole matter is gone over pretty fully at Granville Spinner's shop at Kittery depot. The wheelwright has seen a good many years of honest toil and joyous peace in this community. There were other town dignitaries at the meeting. Charlie Chapman, whom everybody knows and likes, was there and had his say about Portsmouth and Portsmouth's ways of doing things. John Sterling, the grocer, as a rule keeps his politics to himself, but on this occasion he spoke his mind quite freely. Old man Spinner, with his personal friend and political enemy, Sam Keen, came around later and confirmed the sentiments expressed in a rough draft of the resolution above.

The wheelwright paused in his work to give a hot retort to Charlie Chapman, whom he had understood to say that Portsmouth, being the larger town, naturally would get the largest honor. "Nuthin' of the sort," said he promptly. "Shucks and nonsense! There ain't no one round these here parts any too good for Kittery, Me."

"The Russians and the Japs are goin' to do their work right here in Kittery. Portsmouth alone I'll see 'em when they get off the train and go back on board again. This is history for Kittery, and it's a cussed blamed shame that we people set here and let these lies go out 'mong the people of this country."

"I believe in nailin' the lie and clinchin' the nail and when them treachin' makers come to Kittery I believe we ought to do something to signify our appreciation of the honor. When our boys grow up to be men they want to say that they came from Kittery, Me. God's footstool by nature, and the place where the treaty of peace was signed between the Japs and Roushians. That's good enough introduction for any young man."

"Waal," broke in Charlie Chapman, "we ain't shure that they will sign the treaty, even after they get here, but I suppose that would interfere with the honor much; leastways it is something for them to even be in Kittery."

"Sum one down the point was tellin' me yesterday," said John Sterling, "that Teddy Roosevelt is goin' to cum up here himself to superintend the proper buildin' of that treaty. I also hear that he intends stoppin' in Portsmouth."

There was a storm of excitement at this revelation and a hasty canvass of ideas bearing on a flank movement by which the president's course might be diverted across the Piscataqua. The best that came of it was a decision to have a committee meet the president upon his arrival and offer him Kittery's keys.

And so the warfare continues across the little green river down by the sea, no one of the simple combatants dreading for an instant possible danger of upsetting diplomatic negotiations by the untimely dispute.

Luther Burbank's Latest Triumph.

Luther Burbank, the famous Californian horticultural expert, recently sent to the Lewis and Clark exposition his latest triumph, a golden red plum, nearly as large as an average apple and full and round in shape, says a Portland (Ore.) dispatch. The specimens are attracting much attention.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Black Velvet Collar on Linen Coat. Lace Mitts Are Pretty.

A collar of black velvet finishes some of the smartest linen and pique coats. Even the tailor has yielded to the craze for elbow sleeves, and his coats show that mode. The new lace mitts are prettier than ever. The short thumb is well shaped and built into the mitt instead of being a mere apology of a thumb. Lace mitts come in all colors now that dyeing has been resorted to. Some of the most successful gauts of the season are of lace in mousquetaire style.

A new low shoe has grown out of the pump idea. It is exactly like a pump except that it's a wee bit higher and can be held more comfortably on the foot. Two large eyelets lace up with broad ribbon.

Blue suede shoes to wear with the all prevailing blue gowns are to be seen in the shops. They come in all the smart shades of blue. Red, the right shades, are equally smart and expensive. They are made of morocco and are worn on the street at summer resorts. Red shoes are a bit during for any other place.

There are the loveliest shades of hunter's green in oze pumps, with stockings to match.

Shoulder seams are fully two inches shorter than last year, and one is impressed with the importance of the puffs that are springing up along the shoulder line.

The hat illustrated is a copy of the "going away" chapeau of the Princess Margaret of Connaught, who married the crown prince of Sweden. It is a large affair made of rows of white lace. A dainty thick ruffling of lace doited with tiny rosebuds trims the crown. A long white feather curls gracefully over the brim toward the back.

BATHING SUIT SUGGESTIONS

White Taffeta Silk Bathing Suits—Alice Blue and Orange Trimmings.

The newest thing in bathing suits are the white taffeta dresses trimmed with bands and scarfs of red or blue silk. They are not at all practical, but are pretty.

The vogue of orange tones is reflected in bathing suits, many smart ones having a touch of this effective color about the neck. Alice blue trimmings are very effective on a suit of black or dark blue and are a change from the usual white or red adornments.

The suspender craze has reached bathing suits, and some striking gowns are the result. They are rather extreme, though often effective. Conservative women are making their bathing suits on the blouse and skirt order, with a pretty sailor collar inset with a becoming color as a neck finish.

The Russian blouse style is popular for bathing suits smocked at the neck or trimmed with embroidered bands. Bathing girdles are worn by most women, who always, whether on land or sea, try to appear at their best. Bust supporters are a great improvement to light figures when attired in a costume of this description.

In bathing headgear there is nothing new. The rubber cap and silk handkerchief in plaid or some bright color are the favorite adornments for tying over pretty tresses.

The bathing suit pictured is of pale blue mohair. The skirt is circular, and the blouse is the usual sailor affair. Both are trimmed with white wash silk braid. The bathing wrap is of white tuck sh. tveling.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney—poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effects of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail, Address Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

THE HOBO'S RETURN

By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1905, by R. B. McClure

"Now, then, I want this old hobo locked up," exclaimed the conductor of a Yellow Line freight train as it rolled into the station of Clymer. He approached a policeman on the platform, dragging behind him a typical specimen of the railroad tramp.

"What's the row?" queried the officer.

"Beating my train. He was put off at Round Top, at Owosso and at Delhi, but he somehow managed to get on again each time. Give him at least a night in the coop."

"Gentlemen, let me tell you how it is," said the hobo as he removed his old cap and bowed to both. "You see—"

"Come on, Willie," interrupted the officer, as he reached for the man's collar.

It was only two blocks over to the police station, and when the officer had arrived with his prisoner he turned him over to the sergeant with the brief remark:

"Here's another of them fellers."

The sergeant was alone, and he made no move to lock the hobo up. On the contrary, he looked him over as he smoked his pipe, and at the end of five minutes he asked:

"Why don't you quit it?"

"Goin' to."

"When?"

"As soon as I'm under ground, which will probably be within two weeks."

"Come up here to the desk. Say, you do seem to be played out. What's the matter?"

"It's this, sergeant," replied the hobo as he was seized with a fit of coughing that left blood on his lips.

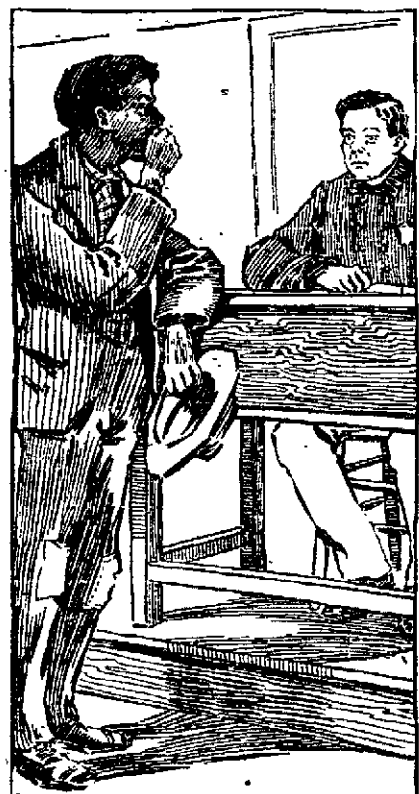

"Consumption?"

"Yep."

"You'll find a bit of lunch there in my basket. Help yourself and then tell me all about it."

The hobo had little appetite. He appeared to eat more to show his appreciation of the sergeant's kindness than because he craved the food. When he had finished he turned to the officer.

"You've heard the story often enough, true and false," he began, "but it hap-

"It's this, sergeant," replied the hobo, "penns to be true in my case. Got into a row with the old man years ago and went drifting. It's easy to drop from drifting into tramping. I cut loose from the world four years ago, and I haven't been on the tramp ever since. Haven't looked into a newspaper for two years until the other day. Our profession don't banker after news and politics."

"And what did you find in the paper the other day?"

"That the governor was dead, and mother a widow. The article also had something to say about a son who disappeared several years ago and was supposed to be dead."

"Yes?"

"That was me, of course. Yes, I've been dead to the world. There's been weeks and weeks when I haven't given a thought to what I used to be nor to those I left behind. But for the newspaper I'd have lived my few days out and been buried like a dog."

"And now?" slowly asked the sergeant.

"Well, old man, I ought to be ashamed to own it, but that article struck me all in a heap—took the grit out of me, as it were. I felt a longing to go back home to see mother again—to be buried alongside my kindred. I fought the feeling for a week, but it was no go. I cursed myself for a nabby pambly, but I got up and headed for Syracuse. The boys gave me the grand guy, but I couldn't turn back. I knew my days were numbered, and there was a feeling about being checked into a potter's field that gave me the shivers."

"And you were beating your way home?"

"Yes. It's a misdemeanor under the law to steal a ride on a train, passenger or freight, but I was taking chances. Doesn't seem such an awful thing to stow away on the roof of an empty freight car when you don't weigh over a hundred pounds, but the majesty of the law must be respected, you know. If I'd got through to Syracuse it might have busted up the railroad. At least you'd have thought so to hear the conductor go on."

"Did he sian you?"

"Oh, of course. He's a new man on the road, and of course he wanted to show how zealous he was. Yes, he stood me up and gave me the boot and then handed me over to the cop. How many days will I get?"

"Not one! I'd like to kick that conductor for the rest of the week."

"You don't mean, sergeant—you don't mean that you sympathize with an old hobo, do you?" asked the man as a lump rose up in his throat.

"I ain't saying that I do, but fair is fair. If you were a well man I'd lock you up and get you a sentence of thirty days, but I'm not jumping on dying men. You stretch out on the seat and sleep for a couple of hours. When No. 4 freight comes along I'll go over with you and see about getting you on to Syracuse."

"Sergeant, if you'll do that for me—if you'll—"

"Cut it off!"

The hobo was asleep in five minutes. Police business was slack, and after awhile the sergeant arose and paced back and forth. When his steps carried him near the man on the bench he noticed how hollow eyed he was, the high cheek bones, the hectic flush and the gasping for breath, and he turned away and growled:

"Only an old hobo, but I'll be hanged if I don't send him home to die decently."

When the two hours were up he called to the man.

"I'm here," was the answer. "I was having my first dream for months, and it was so peaceful that I wish it could have gone on for years. If I can only get to Syracuse—"

"Of course you can get there, and I hope you'll be wise enough to quit this sort of life. Come on."

The two went over to the depot, and five minutes later No. 4 came in.

"Got a hobo here who wants to get on to Syracuse to die," said the sergeant to the conductor.

"Why can't he die right here?"

"Because he's got a mother down there and don't want to be tumbled into a hole like a dog."

"A hobo with feelings, eh? Well, you good old Samaritan, I'll give him a corner in the caboose."

"I'm no Samaritan."

"Then what you doing this for?"

"None of your business. Have a smoke? Here, hobo, get up with you."

"Thanks from the bottom of my heart, old man. If I ever see you again—"

"Oh, forget it!"

When the train pulled out the hobo was curled up in a corner and fast asleep. He was hoping to woo that dream back again.

"Going down to Syracuse to see his mother and then die," explained the conductor to his two brakemen as they looked at the stranger with some curiosity.

Five hours later the engineer whistled for Syracuse, and the conductor bent over the sleeping man and shook him by the shoulder and said:

"Come, hobo, that's for Sary."

The man did not move.

"Up with you, I say, or you'll be carried on and not see your mother."

But there was no sleeper there to wake from his dreams. The hobo had been dead for an hour.

"Sheridan's Lips Were Sealed.

Among the great wits who have been members of parliament probably none was quicker to seize upon an opening than Sheridan.

At one time, when he was a member of the opposition led by Fox, the practice of buying votes was having an alarming effect upon Fox's supporters. The individual responsible for this was the secretary of the treasury, one John Robinson, and vast sums of money were squandered by him upon this nefarious traffic.

At length Sheridan could stand it no longer, and, rising in his seat, he one day delivered so passionate an impeachment of the system that the whole house rose as one man, with loud cries of "Name, name, or withdraw!"

This was a position for which Sheridan had scarcely bargained, for none knew better than he how invidious a thing it would be to publicly identify the individual with the deed. At the same time, so strongly did he feel upon the point that nothing short of his innate good breeding restrained him from taking the plunge. Then his kindly mother wit stepped in and saved him.

"Gentlemen," said he, "were it not that respect for the traditions of this house seal my lips, I could name that gentleman as easily as you could say 'Jack Robinson.'"—London Mail.

Seeking Safety in Numbers.

Dr. R. J. Baldwin, secretary of the Southern Educational conference, patted a little Mobile colored boy on the head.

"This little boy," he said, "failed in an examination last week. It was an examination on the Bible, and the first question the teacher asked was, 'How many commandments are there?'"

"The little boy thought awhile, and then he answered, 'A hundred.'"

"A hundred! No, of course not," said the examiner. "That will do for you."

"And the little boy went out sadly. He had failed."

"But he hung about the building, and in a half hour another boy appeared. He was on the way to the examination too. He asked the boy who had failed what questions had been put to him, and the unhappy failure answered:

"The teacher wanted to know how many commandments there were. What will you say when he asks you that?"

"I'll say ten," was the reply.

"The boy who had failed laughed loud and long."

"Ten?" he cried. "Well, just try him with your ten. I tried him with a hundred and he wasn't satisfied." Cincinnati Enquirer.

KEEP THINGS MOVING.

Accumulated Rubbish Clogs the Household Machinery.

Even in these advancing and bustling times of ours there are not a few families who, from the home maker down, evince a decided tendency toward stagnation, remarks a writer in Table Talk. In one house, up in the storeroom, is a pile of little frocks which Dorothy has outgrown, and no one can advance any good reason as to why they should remain there any longer. I should like to say to Dorothy's mother: "Why not pass these along to some other little girl, and do it right away? Don't wait for the dust to accumulate in an extra layer nor for the moths to plan another banquet to which all their greedy relatives shall be invited. And, too, a good deal becomes a better for being performed quickly."

"But I don't know to whom to give them," might be urged.

And then I should like to reply: "Oh, yes, you do! If you will only think. Suppose no one among your extensive acquaintances might be grateful for these, or for some other of the castoff garments in your collection (which is extremely doubtful), there are plenty of hospitals and other institutions which would be glad to take them off your hands." That thing for which one can find no real use degenerates into so much rubbish to clog the household machinery.

Housekeeping! Why, some folks' housekeeping consists mainly in keeping everything that comes their way—merely keeping it, and that's all. No wonder their domestic cogwheels run with so much friction. They need to apply a generous quantity of the oil of "keep things moving" and to note the result. Besides it makes the blood circulate more freely and prevents one from becoming a fossil.

There is old Lady Harkins, who owns a set of beautiful dishes—yes, and some very fine silverware too; but you didn't know it; of course you didn't, because you never saw her table well set in all your long acquaintance with her. No wonder you came to the conclusion that partaking of three meals a day appears to be but a painful duty in the Harkins establishment. It is all owing to the spirit or torpidity which broods so darkly over the house of Harkins. You ought to see their attic—that's all. The old lady was always opposed to using things, for fear they might wear out. Goodness! What does she suppose anything was made for?

But you can never dig the old soul out of the rut into which she fell when she was only a young woman. No, but she'll be likely to die one of these days and then her accumulated treasures will have to be moved along. Well, her daughter happens to be one of the active, reasonable sort. She'll put the dishes on the table, bless you, because she believes nothing is too good for her husband and children! Between you and me, I believe that is part of the secret of their happy home life.

Convenient Valenciennes.

Some laces should never be imitated. Torchon is one, for instance. But valenciennes can be imitated admirably and by the mile, and "nobody seems one penny the worse"—in fact, we are all many pennies better. There is nothing vulgar about imitation valenciennes, and, though so cheap, it is so well made, so wearable and so durable that it always delights one. It is one of the most appropriate laces for summer wear too. Some seasons a lace is popular which is really not a bit suitable, only smart, because fashion ordains its use. Valenciennes combines well with other laces, with net, with embroidered lawn—in fact, it is difficult to use wrong; also it really washes, which cannot be said of all washing laces, or materials, for that matter. And it is young looking, but not necessarily exclusively juvenile.

Yachting Costume.

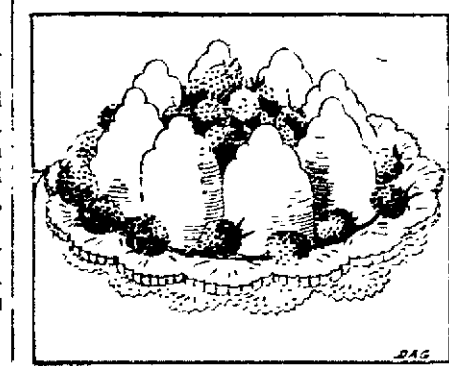

Alpacas and brillianines in solid colors are to the fore among the tailor made for yachting costumes, together with dark blues, which are in particular favor once more, and if given touches of white or brilliant orange, green or red, it must be confessed they prove very jaunty, fit and becoming. No one, however, who goes in for sport of this sort ever depends upon one costume, as what will look exceedingly well on a certain occasion will not do at all upon another. In that way outfits are necessary that include, let us say, an all white, a light beige, a dark blue, besides a few linen suits as well.—Vogue.

A Recipe For Success.

Keep your head cool, your feet warm, your mind busy. Don't worry over trifles. Plan your work ahead and then stick to it, rain or shine. Don't waste sympathy on yourself. If you are a gem, some one will find you.

A Tempting Dessert.

NEWEST IN MODES.

HAT VAGARIES MANY, BUT INCLINED TO ELEGANCE.

Small, Side Tilted and of Great Chic Are the Latest Confections—Floral Triumphs and Strange Things in Feathers.

Trying as is the little pinched up toque in most cases, yet on the whole the small hat decidedly makes for elegance in the toilet. It has at least driven out frowzy features and great ill balanced millinery edifices masquerading under the guise of the "picturesque."

A semblance of a bun and a pronounced side angle mark the latest of the new hats, as a constant feature, and, although it may seem like heresy to say it in face of exquisite artificial floral confections, such as those illustrated, that now prevail, still feathers carry the hall mark of the moment. Ostrich feathers are manipulated out of all knowing, as witness the ostrich bow, the ostrich tuft and other efforts to achieve originality at any cost. The clever swirled plumes, however, represent the epitome of grace.

The long glove necessitated by the elbow sleeve draws rather heavily on the exchequer of the woman with more social ambition than funds, not only because it is long and costly, but because it is white or just an off tint and therefore very susceptible to soil. Some of the pale shades, almost white, display the taints of use less aggressively than the staring pure white and if well chosen become the hand vastly better.

As to colored shoes, many women appear still to prefer keeping their feet in an unobtrusive accessory rather than a hard fact in the scheme of dress, and, unquestionably, conventional black best achieves this end. However, the really smart continent has adopted low shoes of dark tobacco shades for warm summer mornings. These are of suede, with flat bows of dark brown ribbon.

An art of the summer season is the deft employment of small flat lying collars of fine fancy muslin or net, delicately treated about the edge with applique lace. For the finish of cloth or linen coats these are fascinating, and they sometimes develop into revers. They are supposed to be just the airiest, flimsiest scraps, and to them folded sleeve bands of similarly fine muslin lavishly embellished at either edge furnish a harmonious supplement.

Small scarlet, attila bows down the center of an embroidered linen plus-tron or lingerie chemise give a pleasing touch to a low Paris gown. Frillings of fine linen decorating the corsage of a such colored summer cashmere frock also declare a French origin.

AMY VARNUM.

Notes From Jewelers Circular.

A chateaubault fountain pen makes a pleasing novelty.

A new flower ring in the form of a daisy has the petals outlined in small diamonds with a pearl in the center.

In gold scarfpin is a horse's head with in a lucky horse shoe among the various designs of a sporting character.

Among rings that attract attention are those shown a dark stone, as a square, dark square, surrounded by pearls or diamonds.

A handsome ring collar is of finest gold filigree in open diamond shape, spaced with pearls with a bar of light green set with green crossing each diamond.

A pleasing ring for the summer girl is a gold comb or horn mounted as a safety pin, which may be worn at the collar or belt. A whip and lash design is also shown.

An exclusive design in a new gold chain for a watch is of small fancy disks in a row with a connecting link of gold between each disk. The very delicate, flat chain is both novel and really beautiful.

CANNING FRUIT.

An Experienced Housewife Talks to a Young Neighbor.

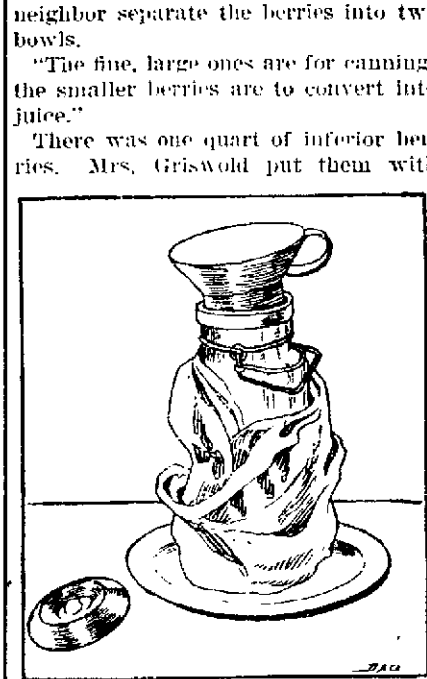

"In June come strawberries, raspberries and cherries; July brings red and black raspberries, gooseberries, currants, blackberries and blueberries. In August we have blackberries, peaches, plums, pears and crabapples. A September sun ripens quinces, grapes, barberries and citrons. When I am planning to put up fruit I make my preparations the night before. Fruit cans and lids are sterilized by putting them in cold water softened by borax and allowing it to boil for twenty minutes. I provide new rings. A rubber which has been used once is fit only to throw away. When the cans have been thoroughly cleansed till each one with water, put on the rubber and lid, screw tight and turn upside down on a sheet of paper. If there is the slightest leak it will show, therefore discard that jar. There is a crack or chip in it somewhere by which bacteria will enter to make the fruit ferment later."

"Next morning I rise early and go to market at 6 o'clock, hiring a parcel delivery man to carry home the fruit. This costs 15 to 20 cents, but it pays. I get the pick of the finest fruit gathered freshly the night before, and I have it at the house ready to begin work on after breakfast. Norah washes the dishes and leaves the beds to air till afternoon; then we both begin work on the fruit, getting it out of the way before lunch time. Now we have berries enough bottled to begin work."

"Why are you sorting them over?" asked Margaret, while she watched her neighbor separate the berries into two bowls.

"The fine, large ones are for canning; the smaller berries are to convert into juice."

There was one quart of inferior berries. Mrs. Griswold put them with half a cupful of water over the fire in a small saucepan. When they had cooked to a pulp she squeezed them through a potato ricer, then added to one pint of juice a pound of sugar and half a pint of water. While it simmered for twenty minutes she filled the cans with the fine berries and set them into the wash boiler, which held a layer of excelsior and enough warm water to cover half of the cans. Fresh berries were added as the fruit sank into the can. Into the bottles was poured the ruby colored strawberry syrup.

When each can was filled to overflowing the lids were snapped on and hot water was poured into the boiler till it almost reached the top of the cans. The gas was lit underneath, the lid of the boiler was put on, then the water boiled slowly for half an hour. The cans were lifted out and covered with a thick towel to prevent cool air striking them. That night have cracked the glass.

"This is all the science there is about canning fruit," said Mrs. Griswold when the last jar was set upon the table.—Delicatore.

The Lingerie Detail.

The new lingerie detail is one of the crazes of the day. It commences with our simplest morning shirts and only concludes with the smart demitote. One finds oneself little almost feverishly anxious to arrive at the detail of some striking cravat or collar, and, apropos of the latter in the guise of a tiny turnover, it is difficult to recognize any other than the finest hand embroidered muslins. These afford just the liveliest touch imaginable to the soft silks and foulards of the hour, the while they comport themselves with equal reason on the simple linen slip.

A Flower Luncheon.

A pretty fancy is a flower luncheon, when some chosen flower is made the central idea. At a rose luncheon, for instance, the decorations would be of roses; the dishes figuring on the menu would be chosen, as far as possible, in shades of pink—lobster, tomato and so on; the hostess garbed in rose color; crystallized rose petals in the bonbon dishes; a Beauty rose, tied with pink satin ribbon, at each place, and, in fact, everything as nearly as may be colour de rose, including the lamp shades, if they are used, as is sometimes the case at "swell" luncheons.

A College Dinner.

Dream Cakes. Put slices of American cheese between very thin slices of white bread and fry in butter, red pepper and salt. The pepper should, of course, be used according to taste, but they are supposed to be better when well seasoned. The bread should be then enough to let the cheese melt through. L. C. Price, Vassar College, in Good House-keeping.

Berry Dumplings.

For berry dumplings make dough as for strawberry shortcake, roll out and cut in round five inches across; place on the pan a tablespoonful of berries. Pinch well together, brush over with egg, using the white only; bake in a brisk oven and serve with cream and sugar.

FANS TRANSFORMED.

A NEW SPHERE OF USEFULNESS, FOR JAPANESE TRIFLES.

Delightful Conveniences For a Summer Evening—Cape Paper, Chintz, Silk and Ribbon Used—Holders, Screens and Other Devices.

It is always desirable to have an ample supply of fans in readiness to hand to your guests on a summer evening, and for this purpose nothing could be daintier or less expensive than Japanese fans metamorphosed by the use of crepe tissue paper, a proceeding

A PHOTOGRAPH HOLDER.

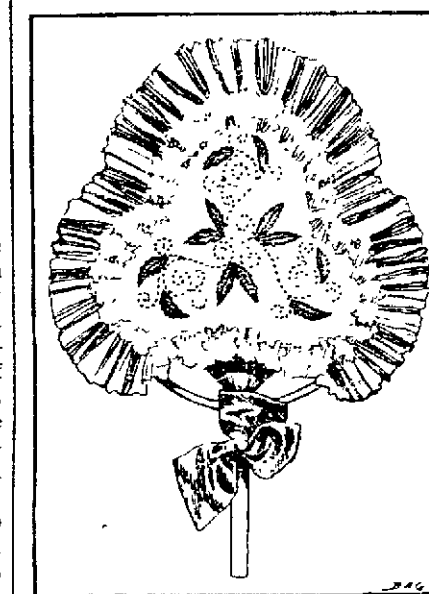

Which the Designer describes as follows: To begin the work cut from brown paper the shape (whether circle, trefoil or diamond) which you wish the remodeled fan to assume. Paste this pattern smoothly upon the fan and cut away the Japanese paper and thin bamboo from around it; then paste over both sides firm muslin or duck, framing into shape around the outer edge. This makes the fan strong and durable and also gives something to sew to.

Now cover one side of the fan with crepe paper, bringing it over the edges and pasting down on the other side. If a ruffle be desired it is sewed around the edge, care being taken not to lose the outlines, and the back of the fan is then covered with crepe paper, doubled under a little and pasted down. The handle may be silvered or gilded and a design outlined on the fan center in liquid gold or silver or black ink, or crepe paper which comes already decorated may be used for the center and plain for the ruffle.

If preferred, pretty figured chintzes, silks or cretons may be employed to cover the fans, and a silk cord may take the place of the ruffle as a finish for the edge.

The first cut shows a "photograph fan." The openings for the photos are first cut in the brown paper pattern, which is pasted on, and the fan then cut out to correspond. In the illustration the fan is of white silk; the edge is finished with a heavy blue silk cord. The scroll decorations are done in liquid gold. Blue ribbon, like that of the bow, is stretched across the back of the various openings to hold the pictures which are slipped in between the ribbon and the fan.

The second fan shows a trefoil done in white crepe paper. A design of gold scrolls and leaves ornaments the center, and the handle and sticks are gilded. The bow is of old rose satin ribbon.

A very pretty table screen may be made by fastening together three or four of these photograph fans, with huge bows of ribbon or silk cord, after shortening the handle two or three inches to form rest for the screen.

Echoes of Fashion.

The flower tongue is a decided feature of this season's fashions and has not yet succumbed to the fatal effects of unworthy imitation.

At the seashore and in extremely warm weather overalls and rompers, worn directly over the underclothing, are suitable for both ladies and ladies.

Long wraps are as indispensable as ever, whether in cloth, pongee, tulle or linen, for during junking on clouds are bent or for long or short travel.

Rash makes a very serviceable wrap for summer use, while pongees, in colors as well as in the natural shade, are held in great favor, by every one.

Bracelets, bangles or wrist veils are in favor for waist and arm dressing, and when worn long elbow covers.

Shirring cord ribbons to tie around in great vogue. They come in several widths in gauze and soft silk.

Lace is seen everywhere and upon every sort of material. It appears in various but pleasing combinations with brocade and tulle.

OLD SORES

ROOTED IN THE BLOOD

Old Sores are the result of a deeply polluted, foul blood supply. The blood is filled with poisons, and as it finds an outlet through the ulcer, the surrounding parts become diseased and the sore eats deeper into the tissues and flesh and becomes a permanent trouble.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of ointments. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctor intimated. I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again, and some twelve years have elapsed since I have discovered the cause. Having been so signally benefited by its use I can heartily recommend it as a cure for all blood troubles. S. S. S. W. V. J. W. FUNDIS. Care Schuchman Brewing Co.

Salves, powders, plasters, etc., do no good, and the sufferer gets disgusted and often despairs of curing an old sore. The trouble is in the blood and until the poisonous matter that is keeping up the ulcer is driven out the place cannot heal. S. S. It makes the blood healthy so that as it circulates to the diseased parts the tissues are cleansed and a new strength is imparted and the

INVITATIONS OUT FOR A WEDDING

OHIO FUEL COMPANY DRILLS IN ANOTHER GOOD GAS WELL NEAR MARTINSBURG.

Second Quota of Little Girls from Columbus Entertained at Memorial Camp—Personals.

Martinsburg, O., Aug. 2—Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Pearl Rouse and Dr. Martin Humphrey of Akron. The wedding will take place on the evening of August 16.

The Ohio Fuel Supply company drilled in a strong well on the farm of Mr. Richard Purdy Saturday. A stake has been driven for a second well on that farm.

The second quota of ten little girls arrived at Ruth Memorial Fresh Air camp Wednesday. They will remain in camp a week and then return to give place to ten little boys. This plan will be followed all summer and many tenement children of Columbus will enjoy the philanthropy of Mr. Foster Dodd of Delaware who spent his younger years in this community. Mr. Dodd's wife and daughter, Ruth, were victims of the Iroquois theatre fire in Chicago, and as a memorial to them he purchased the Chas. Murray farm and dedicated it to the use of the poor.

Mrs. McKee and son Otis of Oberlin are the guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. J. E. Voonvorhis.

Mr. Chas. Breece of Seio, O., was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Breece last week.

James Vanvorhis has resigned the superintendency of the schools here to accept a similar position at Danville, Ohio.

Miss Pearl Rouse of Paintersville, O., is the guest of Mrs. Emma Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Devoe returned Saturday from a three week's visit with their sons in Columbus.

Mr. Ira C. Painter of Sidney spent Sunday with the family of N. H. Tilton.

Prof. T. G. Edwards of Berea, Ky., spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Cora Ramsey.

E. V. Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawke went to Zanesville Friday in an auto and returned Saturday.

Mrs. Bertha Burgess and children of Chicago, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clutter.

ABOUT STYLES

Sleeves continue to show changes and the tendency is toward the short puff, either single, double or triple. And the length, too, is till a most important factor. The elbow style has certainly been the most popular during the season, since it permits the wearing of the long mousquetaire gloves which are so generally becoming. One of the newest gowns for late summer wear has elbow sleeves showing a double puff with a frill, and the skirt is of simple yet odd design—a full length front gore with circular sides tucked in an artistic way. This gown is shown on page 4 of the Peerless Fashion Sheet for September. This sheet may be had free at our pattern department. The Powers-Miller Company.

On a charge of impersonating an officer, John Myers, of this city, was arrested last night by Officers Howard and Swank. It is alleged that Myers is the same man who flourished a gun in the presence of H. H. Shauk and asked for some "loose change."

When arrested the man had a special officer's badge with "Toledo, O." on the face of it. In police court, Mayor Crilly assessed a fine of $5.00 and costs for impersonating an officer.

MEDICAL SOCIETY

Will Have Its Next Meeting at Buckeye Lake Park With Banquet in Evening, Sept. 5.

The Licking County Medical Society met in regular session Tuesday afternoon, Dr. E. J. Barnes, president, in chair, Dr. C. P. King, secretary. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

There was a large attendance and the meeting was a very spirited one. Reporting of cases being next in order, interesting cases occurring in practice were reported by Doctors King, Wells, Barnes and Robb.

Two papers were read, one by Dr. E. J. Barnes on the subject of "Modern Treatment of Burns." It was thoroughly up to date, and reflected credit upon its author.

Dr. Price then read a paper, the subject being "Albuminuria," with report of practical cases. Both the papers were well received and elicited much discussion.

Miscellaneous business being next in order, the finance committee was requested to make a written report at the next meeting.

It was resolved that the next meeting of the society be held at Buckeye Lake Park on Tuesday afternoon, September 5th to be followed by a banquet in the evening. Doctors King, Barnes and Price were appointed a committee to arrange all the details of the meeting. It was also resolved that an invitation be extended to some distinguished member of the profession at Columbus, to deliver a popular address on that occasion. It is the intention of the committee to make this the largest and most successful meeting of any since the organization of the society some three years ago.

Eczema, scald head, hives, itchiness of the skin of any sort instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

CIRCUS NEXT WEEK

"A striking feature of the Sells & Downs Circus is the number of young people with the show. This is particularly true of the women performers, who are all young and fresh looking. From the executive staff to the stars of the dressing tents, the people of the Sells & Downs Show are the most business like and best-behaved circus people that were ever in this city."

In other vocations many times young people displace other folks because they work for less salaries. This is not the case with the Sells & Downs Show. Of the 150 performers billed by Sells & Downs a majority of them are young, but they are paid higher salaries than any other circus of the past or present ever paid. This is an age of specialists with 'ring performers. The time was when a man or woman was paid according to the number of acts they could do. The more and daring the acts the higher the salary, and in some instances two or three could give the whole show. Not so now. When Sells & Downs contract with their performers, it is not a question of quantity, but of quality. They insist upon having the cream of the profession. If the performer can do only one act, but do it better than any one else in the whole wide world, then he is sure of a place with the Great Sells & Downs Show. As the older members of the profession depended upon the number and not the quality of their acts, it is easy to see why the younger persons who specialize are given the preference.

The general air of vigor, snap and ginger about the smooth running performance of the Sells & Downs Show is in a measure due to the young blood which Sells & Downs has infused into the circus business.

The Great Sells & Downs Show will positively exhibit for one day only in Newark, Tuesday, August 8th.

Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Leach Make a Three Thousand Mile Trip Averaging 175 Miles Daily.

Columbus, O., Aug. 2—Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Leach of 41 West Second avenue, have just returned from a month's tour of over three thousand miles in a Cadillac car.

Leaving Columbus on the morning of June 28, at 4 a. m., they proceeded by way of Delaware, Mt. Gilead, Mansfield and Elyria to Cleveland, arriving there in time for dinner in the evening; remaining over night there; went along the lake shore to Westfield; New York, a distance of 135 miles, from thence to Chautauqua and on to Buffalo, Niagara and across to Toronto, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Leach spent a week touring in Canada.

Speaking of the Canadian roads they say that they are almost nil compared to our good roads in the United States. The best thoroughfares encountered were between Cleveland and Buffalo.

On entering New York Mr. Leach was obliged to secure a license to operate his machine, the number of his permit being 20,468. The average daily distance covered was from 150 to 175 miles. "We did not have a rainy day or a bit of trouble with the engine to mar the pleasure of the trip," said Mr. Leach, "and as for tire troubles, we had none, and did not even pump up once the whole time we were gone."

TROOPERS ARE ON STATE RANGE

"GOVERNOR'S OWN" TO BE INSPECTED AT BUCKEYE LAKE ON THURSDAY.

Tomorrow Visitors' Day and There Will Be Dancing in Evening—Everybody Well and Happy.

Buckeye Lake Park, Aug. 2—Only a half dozen troopers remain in camp here today, Captain R. W. Knauss having taken Troop B, the "Governor's Own" over to Camp William McKinley to shoot over the state rifle range.

The troopers left this place on the first car to Newark this morning well supplied with ammunition and they are to return this evening about six o'clock. Captain Knauss said the men will shoot over all the ranges from 200 to 600 yards.

Official announcement was made this morning that inspection will be conducted tomorrow afternoon by Brigadier General John C. Speaks. Tomorrow will be visitors' day in camp and there is to be dancing in the evening in the park pavilion. The troopers are expecting many of their Columbus friends over tomorrow.

Nobody sick; not an accident; plenty to eat; everybody happy. Only six men in camp, getting things in ship-shape for tomorrow.

SERGEANT STEINAL

Who Was Recently at Camp McKinley, Has Been in National Guard Service for 25 Years.

A number of interesting incidents illustrating the bravery of Quartermaster Sergeant Jacob A. Steinal, who was at Camp McKinley with Company A of the Fourth regiment while in camp here recently are told.

Sergeant Steinal is in his twenty-fifth year of service with the National Guard and is regarded by the officers of Co. A as one of the most valuable of their non-commissioned officers.

It is told of him that while with Co. F at Wheeling Creek, during a strike, the Hungarians raised a foreign flag on a hill above the troops and while Colonel Coit was forming two companies to take the flag down, Captain McFadden, Co. F, offered any man of the company who would take the flag, $5.00.

Steinal responded and in the face of a large body of the strikers, ascended the hill and taking the flag from its staff, went back to the company with it, for which act he was mentioned for bravery.

Steinal was one of the first volunteers in the Spanish-American war. He went out with Co. B, Fourth regiment, and remained all through the war. Since that time he has been a prominent member of Co. A. His home is in Columbus.

SILK QUILT

Attractive Souvenir at the Granville Centennial—Silk Contributed by Mr. Chas. Guckert.

Granville, O., Aug. 2—One of the most attractive souvenirs of the Granville Centennial will be the silk quilt, the silk for which was contributed by Mr. Charles Guckert about a month ago. This silk was turned over to Mrs. Belford, whose artistic ability along these housewifely lines is acknowledged by all. The quilt is certainly a beauty and when completed will be worth a good round sum. Mrs. Belford is receiving hearty congratulations from her friends for the really remarkable way in which she has planned and pushed this work to completion.

BLUFF

Made by Young Price Was Forgotten When He Saw the Policeman Under Arrest.

New York, Aug. 2—When Alfred Price of 72 West One Hundred and Fifth street, remonstrated at the dinner table last evening with his 15 year old son, Alfred Jr., for his incorrigibility, the latter, who is more than six feet tall and of manly proportions, demolished the dining room service and furniture and in the most profane terms threatened to set fire to the house proclaiming that if a policeman attempted to stop him he would kill him.

Alfred, Sr., dodging the flying glass-ware and china, ran into the street and implored Policeman Phalen, whom he met, to subdue and arrest the boy. Officer Phalen, who is as much larger than Alfred Jr., as Alfred Jr. is than Alfred Sr., entered Price's home and after a long search found the erstwhile pugnaously inclined youth hiding under a bed in his father's bedroom. Crying as if his heart would break, the modern Peck's bad boy begged Phalen not to arrest him, but Price Sr., was stern and Alfred Jr. was marched off to the West One Hundredth street station house.

The boy's father entered a formal complaint against him, stating that he was wholly unmanageable and vicious. The elder Price urged that his son be placed where he could not wreck the furniture for many days to come. Therefore Alfred Jr. was remanded to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

ROUNDED

Across Continent Says Woman, Who Declares Ohio Steel Manager Has Another Wife.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2—L. F. Durand, former superintendent of the Interstate Steel Company, of Cleveland, has been arrested here on complaint of his handsome wife, who charges that he has hounded her back and forth across the continent and threatened to kill her. Several months ago she fled from him in terror. He learned her address here and planned to have her meet him at night in front of the Westminster hotel. She went to the officers with her story and letter to verify what she said, and detectives were hidden in front of the hotel. At the appointed hour Mrs. Durand was there and the husband pounced upon her and started to drag her away, crying "Now you come with me or I'll kill you."

Mrs. Durand discovered three months ago she says, that her supposed husband has a legal wife and four children living in Plainfield, N. J., and for that reason she tried to leave him, but had great difficulty in escaping. He tracked her relentlessly from place to place. Three weeks ago he came here and trailed her to San Diego and back. Here he watched her house day and night, and meeting her face to face two days ago threatened her. She has lived in constant dread of him since. Mrs. Durand, a refined woman, was a teacher in Cleveland when she met Durand. After a short acquaintance he persuaded her to marry him and the ceremony was performed in Syracuse, N. Y.

Justice Pierce held Durand under a bond of $1,000, setting his hearing for Thursday.

MIKE'S HORSE GOT AWAY FROM JONES

And Now Buksar Charges Him With Horse Stealing—Buksar Has Many Troubles.

Michael Buksar, an Hungarian, of West Newark, has many trials and tribulations. Most of the trials are before Mayor Crilly, and no doubt many of his tribulations are never exploited before the curious public.

Mike has a new experience to relate now and as before he has sought the aid of Mayor Crilly.

This time Mike lost a horse. He lost it in an unusual manner and not being well versed in the wiles of the unprincipled American was an easy victim. This horse, which, by the way, is of uncertain age and pedigree, recently disappeared. It is alleged that Mike turned the animal over to a friend, one William Jones, who was to take him to the creek and give him a bath. In a short time he returned and told a story of how the horse broke away and escaped in spite of his efforts to prevent.

Mike's eyes are gradually being opened, and besides this he has a wife who is more of a Yankee than he. She "smelled a rat," and together with her husband she sought police aid, and the result was that Jones is in jail charged with horse stealing.

There is evidently some great mystery in the case for Mrs. Buksar and Chief of Police Sheridan chattered for some moments in Hungarian in the presence of the reporters. The Chief refused to divulge the purport of this talk and the news men could not understand the jabberings of Mrs. Buksar, therefore their secret, if there is one, is safe.

Jones will be given a hearing before Mayor Crilly Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

SERGEANT SMITH'S SEARCH.

Traveled All Over the World, But Not Successful Until He Reached Newark.

Sergeant Smith, who is remembered here as having been one of the first to join the Rough Riders, was in town yesterday, visiting old friends for the first time in many years.

He said it was odd, but in all his travels, he had never found a good 5c cigar until he went into Collins & Son's store yesterday, where he bought a Wadsworth Bros. "Chico." Sergeant Smith has smoked Porto Rican cigars, Cuban perfectos, and Manila cheroots, but from now on, says he will have nothing but the "Chico," as it is a good, clean cigar, with a long Havana filler, smoking with a firm ash and a regular 25c. fragrance.

Collins & Son just secured the local agency for the "Chicos," and want all the smokers of Newark to try them and see if Sergeant Smith is not a good judge of a cigar.
